Our mission to empower people with differing abilities to claim and enjoy their right to dignity, respect, equality, and choice throughout their lives as active members of their community is further realized through your kindness and generosity.

AccessPoint RI is a non-profit human services organization supporting children and adults with developmental disabilities since 1965.

Although there are many things we could say here in remembrance of our friend, Richard, his brothers and sisters say it best:

Our Brother

Having Richard as a brother was the greatest gift imaginable. The lessons he taught us over the years have shaped who we are today. Thank you, Richard for teaching us how to recognize what's really important in life. Don't worry Be Happy, was one of his favorite songs as a kid, and it truly represents the way he lived.

We are all so blessed to have experienced Richard's love over the years, and while we are sad to say goodbye today, we believe Richard would want us not to worry; not to be sad, but to be happy and celebrate his life. So with that in mind, we'd like to share some of the stories of Richard over the years:

Richard was the happiest kid you've ever met. I'm sure he is laughing as loud as he can right now... anyone who has ever been in church with Richard should know what I am talking about. He'd march down the aisle with the 7 of us, jumping, laughing, waving hi to everyone he saw,....AND pronouncing 'amen' at the top of his lungs. It didn't matter that we were 5 minutes late, and mass had already started... Richard would always let everyone know we had arrived.

He loved life, and ate it up...often times literally. 6 cloves of garlic, whole sticks of butter, beer, bolognaise... he enjoyed just about everything.

As most of you know, we spent our summers on the beach at the Dunes Club. One of our favorite stories that mom tells, is a day when Richard slipped away from her...he was very quick back then... So she spent some time frantically looking for him in his usual spots: the snack bar... the bathhouses...sitting with some cute blondes on the beach. Finally, she found Richard in the formal dining room. There he was, sitting shirtless at a table in a soaking wet bathing suit. Richard had found a formal wedding reception, and he was happily enjoying a piece of their wedding cake. He looked up and said "Hi Mom" as she gracefully excused them from the reception.

There is more than one woman at the beach who has lost a string bikini top with one swipe of Richard's quick hand while walking by, and an older couple that in one fell swoop had their entire scrabble board scattered across the dunes club beach.

You can't talk about Richard without talking about our parents. There wasn't an activity that we did, that Richard was not apart of. From Skiing, swimming, soccer...or just watching his favorite sitcoms and cooking fine foods with mom and dad, Richard and our parents did everything together. They were a real team.

He often rode in the cart while my parents played golf. Last spring he was finally fed up that they never let him play. Mom and dad were taking their fairway shots on the 9th hole, leaving Richard sitting in the cart critiquing their form. Richard had had enough, and decided to hijack the golf cart. He floored it, jumped two sand traps, and almost gave both my parents a heart attack before stopping short of the water with a big smile on his face. Nice move Rich.

Richard was tough and brave. He was dealt a tough hand, but played it as well as he possibly could, and always with a smile on his face. His courage was inspiring, and his happiness was contagious.

He was loved by everyone, made us all better people, and infected us with his smile and warm embrace. The love he shared with all of us, can still be felt in the room, and will always be here.

We could not be more proud to be his siblings. He was the happiest, toughest, bravest, and kindest person we've ever met.

Thank you Richard for teaching us these life lessons, and thank you all for surrounding him with so much love. Let's celebrate his life, and pass on the gifts he shared with us to everyone we know.

With All Our Love,

Chris, Veronica, Becca, and Kyle

Don't Worry, Be Happy!

Richard's motto "don't worry be happy" was something he consistently gave to others. His ability to get the most out of a day put a smile on the faces of those around them.

Whether skipping down the halls of Cornerstone School or participating in the activities of the Dyer Ave day services program Richard's warm smile, affectionate interactions and infectious laugh, showed he lived his motto.

Don't let that lousy shot or missed putt get you down.

Honor Richard
and do yourself a favor;

Don't Worry Be Happy!
